Art Unit: 1746

1. Claims 24 and 33 stand withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on Aug. 22, 2006.
2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-23, 25-32 and 34-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kittle (U. S. Pat. No. 6,090,217).

Re claims 1, 13, 20 and 30, for example, note that Kittle discloses a method/apparatus for removing a layer from a substrate surface, comprising:

providing at least one encapsulating transport (foam/bubble), the encapsulating transport containing at least some reactive gas ("air" and "other gases" col. 6, lines 18-24);

applying the at least one encapsulating transport to the layer, the layer being a chemically reactive layer (note the substrate is "chemically treated", col. 5, line 43); and wherein the encapsulating transport ruptures on the chemically reactive layer and releases the reactive gas onto the chemically reactive layer to facilitate removal of the layer from the substrate surface. Also note the reducing agent (40, DI water), the organic material (col. 1, lines 47-62), the oxygen, nitrogen and argon in that air is composed of these gases and other gases (see "Air Composition" attached), the mixer (36), the application unit being a container (18 see fig. 7) and the sparger (see fig. 8, 9).

4. Applicant's arguments filed June 8, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In regard to the remark that the argon disclosed in Kittle is inert, it is noted that the same is true but the use of the Office Action was inadvertently applied. Clearly there is disclosed in Kittle the use of the reactive gas are which clearly is comprised the gases as claimed.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
